Paralegal, Abel Bean Law

Traci has an extensive background as a problem solver and client advocate, while consistently providing superior and compassionate service. Prior to joining Abel Bean Law, Traci was the paralegal and law firm administrator for a small Jacksonville firm. She incorporated her expansive experience from previously working for the Office of the State Attorney, 7th Judicial Circuit, into private practice and continued to manage a large case load. In addition to assisting with trial and witness preparation, preparing legal instruments, and performing client interviews, Traci developed an avenue to assist less mobile clients by conducting home, nursing home and hospital meetings. Traci has assisted in securing and protecting client out-of-state assets, developing creative legal maneuvers, and in obtaining favorable client settlements, and helping victims navigate the legal system.

Traci works with several non-profit organizations to help meet the needs of veterans, the elderly and the homeless.

Growing up in a military family, Traci travelled extensively and lived in nearly every state on the east and west coasts. Calling St. Augustine home., Traci and her husband, Mike, enjoy spending time with their blended families and grandchildren, European travel and planning their next adventure.
